

Belgrade

An Old Fortification at Belgrade Which Occupies the Level Ground at the Juncture of the Rivers Save and Danube. This Has Been Inactive Since 1878, When, According to the Treaty of Berlin, Austria Took Away Serbia's Right to Fortify Her Borders Against the Dual Monarchy.

(Copyright by Blair Jackson.)

Entrance to the King's Palace, One of the Principal Buildings in the City. In Recent Years Belgrade Has Greatly Changed in Appearance and It Now Possesses Large Business Houses and Hotels and a Number of Banks.

(Copyright by Underwood & Underwood.)